

Hello, man with the red mask on his face. What's up?
My name is DAS ESEL!

Sure...so what's your deal?

Ever wondered why street "artists" or whatever they're calling themselves nowadays, insist on proverbially pissing on every wall in the city to show how "fucking sick" their "pieces" are?

Er...
No, of course not. Why would any sane person with eyes give a flying fuck, who is hiding behind that smiley evil clown face on the side door to the supermarket or the potato shaped dinosaur claw on that bridge near your friend's house?

Makes sense. So who's that girl in the wig?

That's my partner in crime, DER MÄDCHEN. Together we're working on something new and original. We're into creative action. Go to www.youtube.com/kommandoonex or follow us on www.twitter.com/kommandoonex. We want to move and inspire people through our actions. Cre-activate them, so to speak.

Cre-activate them? Sounds like some kind of esoteric ray-gun.

We're individuals and we just want to ensure that everyone is empowered to act on their own as well. We're focusing on urban environments and their inhabitants.

So what exactly is it that you and your masked accomplice do? Change the way people think about street art?

Not just street art, but their whole creative output. KOMMANDO ONE X and our mission statement IX THE CITY is not just about a new way of thinking, it's a new way of acting. It's about taking back the city and making what you want out of it. The city is a playground and we want people to have fun playing in it.

It's important that people feel they can do this – have complete creative freedom in their surroundings.

Ok, let's suppose we join you on this. Won't it end in complete chaos?

Well, that's the best part, no one knows how it will look. We want people to realize their potential. Everyone is capable of so much. If we all focus our creativity on what we love, the possibilities are endless and the process itself amazingly exciting.

Sounds kind of fun. It is.

youtube.com/kommandoonex
twitter.com/kommandoonex
flickr.com/kommandoonex

